

L.I.: The Chinese date

S.C.: I can write today's date in Chinese.

Hope you have fun with this week's activities. Try to finish this by Thursday.

Remember how we do the date in Chinese? Start with the biggest ^{nián}年, then ^{yuè}月 and the smallest ^{rì}日 and then add days of the week ^{xīng qī}星期。

So today: 2/8/2021 will be like this in Chinese.

今天是二〇二一年八月二日星期一。

Now it's your turn. Write the short date for today _____.

Then write the Chinese date in the boxes below. Choose a different date so you are not copying my example.

^{jīn} 今	^{tiān} 天	^{shì} 是					^{nián} 年
	^{yuè} 月		^{rì} 日	^{xīng} 星	^{qī} 期		。

L.I.: My Family - age

S.C.: - I can recognise and write ^{suì}岁.

Practise the Chinese character for age/years old 8 times.

^{suì} 岁
---------------------	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

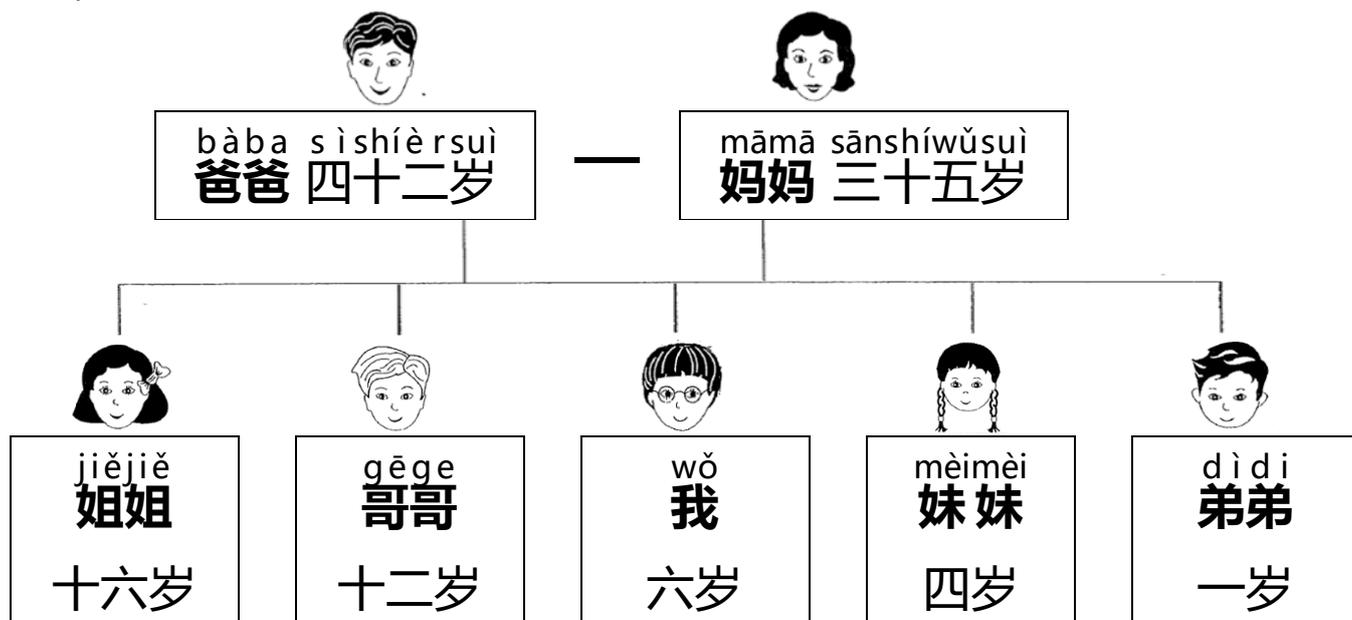

S.C.: - I can draw the family tree and label my family members.

- I can write the age of my family members in Chinese.

Remember you wrote about the people in your family in the Week 2 worksheets? Now ask your family members how old they are. Still remember how to ask the questions ^{nǐ}你 (you) ^{jǐ}几 (how many) ^{suì}岁 (years old) ?

Next draw your family tree like my example below, write who they are in pinyin and write their age in Chinese under each of the drawing. It is your family so do not just copy the example.

Example:

Now draw your family in the box below. You may have more or fewer people in your family.

Thanks for trying and you deserve this
