L.I.: Australian animals

S.C.: - I can name at least six Australian animals in Chinese.

- I can use an adjective in Chinese to name an Australian animal.

Did you enjoy watching the video on Chinese animals last week? How did you go with the questions? Here are the answers.

1. What do pandas mainly eat?

Pandas mainly eat bamboo.

2. The panda looks like which kind of animal that lives in a very cold part of the world?

They look like the Polar bear.

3. What is the mythical legendary animal that is a symbol of China?

It is the dragon.

4. Which Chinese animal is your favourite?

Your choice

5. Name two Chinese animals.

Any two of these: panda, red panda, golden snub-nosed monkey, brown-eared pheasant, red-crowned crane, Chinese mountain cat, pygmy slow Loris, Chinese alligator, Chinese cobra, Chinese bird spider, Corsac fox and Chinese dragon.

Having learned about the twelve Chinese animals, let's scan this  and watch the video about Australian animals. If the QR code does not work, go to you Tube and type in 'Australian animals for kids. Click on the one at the top that says 'Australian Animals | Animals for Kids | Weird Wild Animals'.

How many of the eleven animals in the video have you actually seen?

You have learned how to say six of them in Chinese. What are they? List them below.

English name	Chinese name In Chinese characters or pinyin

What about wallaby? We have not learned how to say it in Chinese but I think you are able to figure out yourself. It is a small kangaroo so you just add the adjective for 'small ^{xiǎo} 小' in front of kangaroo. Try to write it below.

S.C.: - I can name at least one Australian mythical animal.

- I can research some facts about an Australian mythical animal.

Last week you learned about the Chinese dragon which is a mythical animal. It was believed to have existed long time ago but no one can prove they have actually seen one. Can you name one Australian mythical animal and write one or two sentences about it?

Thank you for your effort. Four stars for you  !
